The profile asks specific information about your company that you may not immediately know without some research. These topics include: financial information, e-enablement capabilities, quality and environment certifications, social responsibility, data security, independent contractor partnerships, and diversity classifications. For federal government suppliers, a field has been added in Step 2 of the profile in which you can provide your company’s CAGE code that will allow a federal government buyer to access and validate your small business’s SAM data.

Please ensure that you have the correct authority as a representative for your company to sign a legally binding agreement. In addition, please ensure that no other representative from your company has started a profile. If a profile has been initiated for your company, you can request to be added as an additional editor or reader of your company’s profile from your Company Administrator.

It is important that your company information be accurate because large enterprise buying companies will use this information to establish partnerships with suppliers. All data will be handled in compliance with our Privacy Policy and Terms of Use.

Once you have registered your company the member companies participating in Supplier Connection have visibility to your company’s capabilities. In addition, one of the key objectives of this initiative is helping small businesses learn what it takes to service a large business.

How can I learn to use the Supplier Connection Portal?
Download the Supplier Portal User Manual

What was the genesis of Supplier Connection?
Small businesses are a primary engine of job creation and economic growth for the United States, and are vital to our economic recovery. However, small businesses need stable income, capital and new markets to grow and hire new employees. IBM and several other large companies recognized the need for innovation and leadership from the private sector in promoting economic growth, and decided to launch Supplier Connection, a free Web-based tool that enhances current processes by providing a central portal for small businesses to connect with the supply chains of large companies.

Do the Participating Members maintain Member Profiles?
Yes, each Participating Member can create a profile to display company information, their small business commitment, usage of Supplier Connection within their company, contacts, etc. The member profile is maintained and editable by the Buyer Administrator for each company and accessible on the public-portion of Supplier Connection.

Will there be additional large enterprise members joining Supplier Connection?
Yes. In addition to the current Participating Members, we continually reach out to leading enterprises to invite them to participate in the Supplier Connection initiative.

What are the Regional Growth Partners?
In addition to Small Business Suppliers and Participating Buying Members, there is a third group involved with Supplier Connection. Regional Growth Partners are economic development organizations who utilize Supplier Connection to grow economic activity in their region. With education, training, and events, they help small businesses compete for work with large organizations.
What is the target number of participating large firms?
In a two-year period we envision that the number of participating large firms could grow to 100, with a comparable growth in total supply chain purchases.

How do other companies become involved? Is the initiative open for all companies in any sector?
Yes, the initiative is open to any large company in any sector. To get more information please email us at info@supplier-connection.net.

From a small business perspective, we are looking at companies who are headquartered in the United States, have fewer than 500 employees or less than $50,000,000 in annual revenue, have the capability to supply to larger companies, and provide one of the currently accepted goods or services, details in FAQ above.

We also work with Regional Growth Partners that are economic development organizations who utilize Supplier Connection to grow economic activity in their region. With education, training, and events, they help small businesses compete for work with large organizations.

Why would large companies with established suppliers capable of meeting their requirements want to open up business to smaller untested companies?
While this site will certainly benefit small businesses, there are also significant benefits to large businesses. This consortium will provide increased access to a broad and diverse group of suppliers who can help the larger companies adapt to changing market conditions.

Can I find information about Supplier Connection on social media?
Supplier Connection has a presence on several social media channels and has a LinkedIn Group for small business members. I don’t see the product or service that I provide listed in Supplier Connection, why not?
This effort was initiated around an initial set of capabilities that represent a high level of procurement activity and job growth potential. Over time we will be adding additional capabilities that expand the initiative’s reach. Requests for new products and services to include can be made via info@supplier-connection.net.

I received a passcode to register. How do I use this?
Supplier Connection or a member company may issue you a special access code via email. To utilize the passcode, register as a user, then sign into Supplier Connection and complete the Eligibility Form. At the bottom of the form, enter the passcode provided.

What should I expect once I have registered my company with Supplier Connection?
If you provide the products and services, which are needed by one of the Supplier Connection members, you may receive requests for more information or to participate in a sourcing evaluation. The sourcing process can be measured in months, not days, and generally involves many information-gathering steps. The Supplier Connection company profile will help streamline the initial steps of the identification steps of the sourcing process.

How long does the registration take? What sort of information will I need to complete it?
The registration process is a multipart process. It begins with a user registration. Anyone can register as a user. To complete a company profile you will first need to register as a user.
The Supplier Connection company profile has nine discrete steps:
1. Supplier Profile – Basic company information such as your company’s legal name, DUNS number, address, company contacts and corporate structure, as well as uploading your logo, sales brochure and capabilities presentation.
2. General Information – Information regarding number of employees, products and services provided, key contacts, and federal supplier information, if applicable.
3. Financial Information – Annual revenues
4. E-Enablement Capabilities – Ability to support electronic business transactions
5. Quality and Environment – ISO9001 certification, corporate responsibility and environmental management systems
6. Compliance and Ethics – Details on your ethical dealings and social responsibility
7. Data Security – Information on security measures and any past security breaches
8. Independent Contractors – Usage of independent contractors
9. Diversity – Ownership classifications such as minority owned, persons with disability owned, women owned, veteran owned, etc.

The time it takes to complete depends upon how much of the information you have readily available to you. With all of the information in hand it can take less than two hours. However, you can always save and go back later. For a list of required fields to complete the company profile please download the Small Business Profile Preparation Guide (PDF).

Why do you need all this information?
The intent of Supplier Connection is to act as a single registration site for a small business that will be accessed by multiple corporations. The information a company requires to qualify a supplier is extensive and detailed. By providing this level of information in a single registration format our goal is to enable multiple companies to access and download your company’s information.

How often do I have to update my company profile?
Your company should maintain a complete profile, updating it every time you have a substantive change in your business, at minimum quarterly. However, you must verify your company profile annually. If you do not verify your company profile annually, it will be made inactive and removed from buyer’s view. You can reactivate your company profile at any time by logging in and answering the verification questions.

Can I provide buyers with additional information about my company outside of the company profile?
Yes. In addition to the standardized company profile, we strongly encourage you to brand and showcase your company’s products and services on the first page a buyer views when accessing your company profile. You can do so by adding your social media links (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn or YouTube), company logo, sales brochure, and a presentation to highlight company's capabilities. You can upload these assets in Step 1 of the company profile, in the Company Collateral section.

How do I add additional users from my company so they can help me to complete sections of the small business registration?
A Company Admin can add up to five additional Company Admins and unlimited Supplier Employees to their company's record. These users must first create an account at Supplier Connection. Once this is complete, the Company Admin can go to Manage Our Contacts and click on "Add an Administrator" or "Add a Supplier".

How do I see all the users associated with my company's profile?
Company Admins and Supplier Employees associated to your company will be visible in the Manage Our Contacts page for Company Administrators or the Company Contacts page for Supplier Employees.

How is a Company Admin different from a Supplier Employee?
The user that successfully completes the Eligibility step for registering a small business will automatically become the Company Admin for that small business. The Company Admin can create and edit the company profile, as well as manage which users can have edit or read privileges for the supplier record.

The Supplier Employee has read-only access to the company profile and associated content.

I tried to add a Supplier Employee or Company Admin to my company, but the system tells me there is no such user.
Potential Supplier Employee or Company Admins must first create an account at Supplier Connection before they can be added to your Company Contacts. You’ll need to know the exact email address the user used during registration.

Can I add another Company Admin to My Company’s Contacts?
Yes, each small business may identify up to six users with Company Admin (edit) privileges. Any Company Admin can add an additional Company Admin by accessing the Manage Our Contacts tab and clicking "Add an Administrator".

How do I delete a Company Admin or Supplier Employee from my company?
Only Company Admins can perform this function. To remove, go to the Manage Our Contacts tab, locate the user you want to delete, and then click on the "Remove" or "Remove Administrator Access" button to the right of their name.

Deleting a Company Admin will only remove their edit privileges and they will remain a Supplier Employee of the company.

Deleting a Supplier Employee will remove the user from accessing your company profile and associated content, but they will retain access as a registered user of Supplier Connection.

Why can’t I edit my company’s profile?
Only Company Admins can edit the company profile. Supplier Employees do not have edit privileges. To request Company Admin access, contact an existing Company Admin for your company, visible in the Manage Our Contacts tab.

How do I print my own company profile?
Once logged into Supplier Connection, select the 'Company Profile' link from the 'My Supplier Connection' tab. A print icon will be in the upper right and will open your company profile in a .pdf format where you may then print it.

How do I reactivate my company profile if I received a notice that it was disabled?
There are many reasons that your company profile may be disabled. You will receive an email notification about the change, as well as a notification on the website when you or anyone from your Company Contacts logs in. While disabled, your company profile will not be visible to Buyers or to other small businesses; however, you still may make updates to your company profile. To reactivate your account, please contact the Help Desk.
Where do I find information about DUNS numbers?
For more information about DUNS number, go to the Dun and Bradstreet DUNS number lookup:
http://mycredit.dnb.com/search-for-duns-number/

A DUNS number from Dun and Bradstreet is a nine-digit number that is linked to your company’s information with Dun and Bradstreet. If you do not yet have a DUNS number, you can apply for one at the link above.

Who else can see my company’s information?
All of the large companies who are approved members or regional growth partners of Supplier Connection will have access to your full company profile, ie, the “Buyers”. In addition, for each category of data, you can also allow the other Small Businesses in Supplier Connection to view or the general public to view. Company admins control this by selecting “Buyer Only”, “Buyers and Suppliers”, and “Buyers, Suppliers, Public” for the Privacy Settings at the bottom of each Step of the Company Profile. All data will be handled in compliance with our privacy policy and terms of use.

All Company Admins and Supplier Employees listed in your Manage Our Contacts tab can view all aspects of your company profile.

What to expect once your company profile is complete
How soon can I expect to start getting business? How much business can I get?
The Supplier Connection registration and company profile is not a guarantee of business from any of the members, nor is it a place where the large company members will post Requests for Information, bids, quotes, etc. It is a way to improve your visibility with the procurement communities of the participating member companies and for those companies to contact you directly should a need arise for your product or service.

You will still be expected to be competitive and meet the requirements associated with the sourcing process. The business opportunities are open-ended depending upon each supplier / member relationship.

Should a member contact you regarding an opportunity, the timing of the sourcing process can be measured in months, not days, and generally involves many information-gathering steps. The Supplier Connection company profile will help streamline the initial steps of the identification steps of the sourcing process.

Who or how will I be contacted?
Each member company has their own sourcing process. Contacting potential suppliers varies from e-mail, phone to traditional mail. The person contacted will be based on the information provided in the company profile.

How do I increase the likelihood of being contacted?
Your company should maintain a complete profile, updating it every time you have a substantive change in your business, at minimum quarterly.

We strongly encourage you to brand and showcase your company’s products and services on the first page a buyer views when accessing your company profile. You can do so by adding links to your social media profiles such as Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn or YouTube; company logo; sales brochure; or a presentation to highlight company’s capabilities. You can upload these assets in Step 1 of the company profile, in the Company Collateral section.

If your company has an active contract with one of the Participating Members, that member can Confirm your company. This displays a Confirmation badge on your profile for all the other Buyers to see. Ask your client to visit your company profile to confirm your company.

Your company can also obtain ‘badges’ to highlight their profile. We are working with Regional Growth Partners to develop targeted educational programs to enhance your ability to compete for contracts. The first pilot program helps you earn a Financial Supplement badge that will be displayed to buyers. More details will be shared as we exit the pilot phase.

Can I come to Supplier Connection to see what a company needs to purchase?
Each Buying member keeps a public profile that may include information on what commodities they are seeking. In addition, the Opportunity Marketplace contains specific needs of a buying member. Not all of the Participating Buying Members will post their upcoming requirements or needs and therefore the list is not exhaustive.

How do I respond to an Opportunity posted in the Opportunity Marketplace?
The Opportunity Marketplace is visible to both registered users of Supplier Connection and the public at large, but only registered users with complete Company Profiles can be matched to the Opportunity posted. Using the criteria that the Buyer posts in the Opportunity, Supplier Connection will alert the buyer to those suppliers that match.

To have your company profile automatically sent to the buyer you must be 100% complete and answer the profile questions to match what the buyer has posted, e.g, Office Location = New York, Category = Consulting. The system will then automatically alert the buyer.

In addition, suppliers with 100% complete profiles may express interest by emailing the member company associated with the Opportunity by clicking the Send a Message button.

Additional Supplier Connection Features
What is the “Small Business Profile” feature?
The “Small Business Profile” feature allows any small business supplier with a completed company profile to search the Supplier Connection database and get a limited data view of other fully registered small businesses. This fulfills a major objective of the initiative to connect small businesses with each other, to partner on new opportunities, tag-team capabilities to meet larger scope opportunities, and to network to growth. Only a limited amount of non-confidential data can be viewed, including:

All company contact information (including name, address, telephone, contact name, email address, social web URLs), as well as the commodity/services provided, the industries served and certifications.

Again, only companies with completed company profiles will be able to view companies with completed company profiles. This is a major benefit of the Supplier Connection initiative so be sure to complete your company profile as soon as possible.

How can I keep track of Small Business Profiles?
When your company profile is complete and you are logged into Supplier Connection, you can save small business profiles by clicking on the My Supplier Connection tab, then selecting Small Business Profiles.

From the Small Business Profiles page, as you view profiles that you’d like to save, click the star icon next to the small business profile.

To view your saved small business profiles, click on Saved Small Business Profiles within the My Supplier Connection tab.

To remove small business profiles from your Saved Small Business Profiles, click the filled star next to the small business profile.

In the Small Business Profile view, why can't I see every other business that has registered in this site?
The Small Business Profile feature that allows you to see other businesses is only available to those with completed company profiles. In turn, you can only see the small businesses that have also fully completed their profiles.

Can I opt out of having our company information available to others in the Small Business Profile?
At this time, all small businesses that complete the company profile will automatically have a portion of their data visible in the Small Business Profile to other fully registered small businesses. All data will be handled in compliance with our privacy policy and terms of use.

If you wish for your company's information to not be posted in the Small Business Profile, please contact us at info@supplier-connection.net.
What is the Supplier Spotlight?
Each month, Supplier Connection’s Small Businesses Members compete to be the Featured Supplier of the Month in the Supplier Spotlight contest. Small businesses are eligible to enter if they have a 100% complete and visible Supplier Connection profile.

To enter, members must submit an idea that makes their small businesses more profitable or more efficient. Entries typically focus on a pre-set theme that is announced on the blog at the start of each month. The Supplier Connection team selects up to five entries each month, which are posted on the Supplier Spotlight blog along with the voting tool. The winner is prominently highlighted as a Featured Supplier on the Supplier Connection website and promoted on our social media channels.

Click here for more information on the Supplier Spotlight contest.
